Region communicated the status of NPL Update #2 sites to you in May of 1985. In that communication, we identified a number of sites as having RCRA Status. By RCRA status, I think we generally mean sites which have filed a Part A application with EPA.

I believe that our May judgement was not correct. On advice from Legal Counsel J. Dorsey, we have re-examined the status of the sites and now determine:

1. Southern Maryland Wood Treatment does not have any RCRA status. It is not listed in the Hazardous Waste Data Management System as being a site for RCRA consideration.
2. Mid-Atlantic Wood Preservers is a Generator of RCRA Wastes. It has not filed a Part A at this time and probably does not require any Treatment, Storage and Disposal determination under RCRA Part B.

I trust this correction will not hinder efforts to list the sites. I will be pleased to make this correction public in any subsequent reediting of the Narrative Summaries and ask you to change the RCRA designation codes in any Hq. NPL #2 tracking system.
